

Warren P. Meyers, Senior Sales Trader

Warren P. Meyers brings 30 years of Wall Street experience to his position of Senior Sales Trader at Griffin. Prior to joining Griffin in 2015, for most of his career Warren was a floor broker at the New York Stock Exchange in various positions. He started as a wire clerk for N.B. Camerman on the American Stock Exchange, moving to the NYSE where he was a wire clerk for H.J. Meyers & Co., a floor broker for Atalanta Sosnoff Management Corp., a floor broker and partner at Walter J. Dowd, Inc., and a Managing Director at Illustro Trading, LLC. During his career at the NYSE, Warren handled the trading for many of the largest sell-side firms on The Street. In addition to his trading duties, Warren was also in charge of on-floor compliance at his last three positions. He also has been a representative for the NYSE through many media outlets and has been quoted in many publications including Traders Monthly, The New York Times, and The Wall Street Journal. He is currently a contributor for CNBC and has appeared many times on various segments of CNBC broadcasts including Squawk on the Street, the Lunch Time Report, The Final Hour Wrap Up, and The Larry Kudlow show. Warren graduated from Deerfield Academy and received a B.S. in Business Administration from Pepperdine University.
